SOLID, LIQUID, AND GAS

30-MINUTE LIVE-ACTION COMEDY-DRAMA SERIES OVERVIEW

In a last-ditch effort to reinvent herself, a struggling educator must win the host role in the beloved children's tv series STARPOWER!, only to face the original host's legacy and a public resistant to inclusivity.

WHY NOW?

We're living in an era of scientific skepticism and distrust in education. For the Blue's Clues generation, host Steve shared puzzles we solved through kindness and listening.

Today, the same generation is grappling with an anti-truth reality and mental health crises. Solid, Liquid, and Gas is a direct response to this, by using children's programming devices to dismantle complexities of adulthood. It asks: How do we stay solid when the world is evaporating around us?

The story investigates the states of matter (solid, liquid, gas, and plasma) as a metaphor for personal transformation.

MAIN CHARACTERS

TRINI "RAY" REYES is a struggling 29-year-old Filipina American educator who is eventually the host's sidekick in StarPower! She often breaks the fourth wall to speak directly to the camera, sharing cynical thoughts about the world, her personal failures or asking viewers to make a choice. She likes taking up space but is incapable of pausing to listen. She can speak Tagalog.

KWAN "SUNSHINE" REYES is Ray's 24-year-old little brother, an astronomy grad student at Michigan State and member of a local neurodivergent theatre. He got his nickname in college. Unlike Ray's manic energy, he is grounded and uses scientific logic to calm down Ray. His dead-panned humor often interrupts her fourth wall breaks. He can speak Tagalog.

MS. AURORA STARLING is a science educator with a huge following and the eventual host of StarPower! Despite seeing Ray as a theatre camp and STEM club bestie, she is unknowingly seen by Ray as a longtime rival. Like Ray, she often breaks the fourth wall to speak directly to the camera, sharing positive thoughts about the world or her personal achievements.

BILLY CLAYTON DUBOIS is the original host of Stardust. He left in 2006 due to clinical depression and a drunk driving accident. He initially rejects Ray when she meets him for guidance but becomes her mentor after finding out River and Skye are reviving the series without him. He has cartoonish energy and often speaks to an invisible audience yet misses the camera's gaze.

RIVER MATTHEWS is the co-creator of Stardust and its revival StarPower! She voices both titular characters. She is very protective of the brand and takes every chance she can to rid StarPower! of any flaw that Stardust had. Though she never breaks the fourth wall, she is aware of it like Ray.

SCHUYLER "SKYE" PARK is a co-creator of Stardust and voice actor. They are open-minded and look out for Ray's wellbeing, unlike River. It may be due to Clay's 29th birthday drunk driving accident long ago. In the early 2000s, they were male representing but have since come out as non-binary. Though they never break the fourth wall, they are aware of it like Ray.

YASMINE "YLEM" (E-lehm) LEM is the primary animator, designer, and puppeteer of the Stardust franchise. Like her cartoons, she is very animated.

RECURRING CHARACTERS

TERESA ALVES is Stardust's biggest fan. As a child, she ran a fan club blog for the original show. Now as an adult, she is now a science communicator who runs social media channels dedicated to and critiquing StarPower!

KENDRA ALTRO is a child actor who voices the younger characters on StarPower!

JET APRIL is a director, known for the children's tv series, Cinnamonville. They serve as the primary series director for StarPower!

CRYSTAL CABELLERO is a story editor, developer, and educational psychologist for StarPower!

COOPER OWENS is an anti-science protestor and former child actor.

MR. REYES is Ray and Sunshine's father.

MRS. REYES is Ray and Sunshine's mother.

PETEY SEGHEAD is a military officer who uses Stardust's songs as a torture device.

ALICE STARLING is a mission's operations manager at NASA and Aurora's mother, who helps to fact check Aurora's scripts.

BARRY STARLING is a former theatre actor and Aurora's father.

STEVE STEVENSON would be the third pick as the host of StarPower! if Aurora and Ray did not accept. He stars as the villain Starcatcher in a later episode of the first season to rave reviews.

THANH THIEN is the primary composer for the original Stardust, who created the show's music, including the theme song with River.

SAMPLE SCENE

INT. PEANUT BARREL - DAY

The waiter waits on Ray and Aurora to answer, looking weirded out.

RAY
(to camera; cynically)
Should I commit a crime against humanity or be a model citizen? Crime or no crime?

AURORA
Don't mind us, host. We look to our viewers for answers.
(winks at camera)

RAY
You answered crime? Crime, it is!
(to the waiter)
A slice of pineapple pizza, please!
(to camera)
Now, do you see the loser in the room?
(pointing a finger around)
Lemme know when to stop, maybe Ms. Aurora.
(her finger land on herself)
Stop here?! That's how it is, you absolute jerks…

AURORA
Ray, have you lost the plot? You've got a deadline to finish the spec. I need to memorize lines now.

HOT OPEN (from Episode 3: "Team Player")

INT. RAY'S BEDROOM – MORNING (DREAMWORLD)

BEEP. BEEP. The alarm goes off then suddenly catches on fire.
Ray jumps out of bed and puts the fire out with a towel.

RAY
Why do bad things keep happening to me?

Aurora swiftly rises from the opposite side of the bed.

AURORA
Could it be because you keep making bad choices, Ray?

(pointing to the camera)
They keep telling me to make bad choices.

AURORA
(to camera)
Are you telling my bestie Ray to be a baddie? No? Good.
(to Ray)
They said "no."

RAY
(to camera)
Thanks for nothing.

AURORA
Shall we sing about your troubles, Ray?

RAY
No, no! Anything but singing.

AURORA
WHEN YOU CHOOSE TO BE A LIAR
DON'T BE SAD WHEN...

RAY
(Weeping)
...MY WORLD'S ON FIRE?

The towel bursts into flames, freaking everyone out.

SEASON ARCS (TENTATIVE)

SEASON 1

Ep	Title	Plot Summary
1	Inner Child Serial	Cold Open: In the early 2000s, Trini “Ray” Reyes and her baby brother Kwan “Sunshine” Reyes were fans of the children’s show Stardust, featuring mudpuppy Stardust and her host Clay as they travel the universe to teach science. Upon its cancellation in 2006, Ray decides to pursue her theatre and science education dreams. In 2025, struggling educator Ray faces the end of her theatre career after accidentally setting a puppet show on fire. Blacklisted and facing eviction, she finds hope in an encouraging video from Clay for Stardust’s 25th anniversary. Ray visits Kwan and finds out the show’s creators, River and Skye, will be in town. She pitches herself to them during an arts fair but is dismissed as unprofessional. After secretly recording a conversation where she learns a revival has been greenlit but her polished rival, Ms. Aurora, will host without any auditions, Kwan helps Ray track down a disillusioned Clay in Brooklyn.
2	Who Does Not Belong? Serial	Cold Open: When Ray was in elementary school, Clay stopped by her classroom. He was an inspiration to everyone. Now, middle-aged Clay is cynical and dismisses Ray as a mentee. But he discovers the show’s creators, River and Skye, is reviving the show without letting him know. So, Clay helps Ray film a rogue audition video at Clay's apartment. Their video goes viral and sparks a global wave of auditions. To avoid a PR disaster, the network is forced to scrap their plans and announce a legitimate casting process, putting Ray back in the running for the revival. Ray performs well and gains massive grassroots following, but the network ultimately chooses her rival, Ms. Aurora, for the host role to keep a safe image.
3	Team Player Serial	Cold Open: Ray has a dream about putting out a fire with Aurora. Despite Ms. Aurora being the host, the public demands Ray's involvement. Aurora and Skye convince River to hire Ray as a writer as a consolation prize. Overnight and with Clay’s mentorship, she writes a phenomenal pilot script for Aurora and StarPower, proving she can be a team player. But River rejects Ray's draft and goes with her own. They begin shooting the pilot for the test audience.

4	For Educational Purposes Only Serial	StarPower! pilot is screened for a test audience. While Aurora is decent with new kids, the older fans demand the return of Stardust, feeling the new show is hollow. River brings back Stardust to appease fans, but Aurora struggles to connect with the animated mudpuppy. During a chaotic rehearsal, Ray steps in to read lines. With Clay's mentorship, her energetic spirit works with Stardust's whimsiness. Overnight, River writes a script introducing a sidekick.
5	Sidekick Episodic	Cold Open: In 2014, Ray and Aurora spend their last theatre camp together. For their production of Peter Pan, Aurora is cast as Peter while Ray is Tinker Bell as consolation. RBS accepts Ray as Aurora's crazy sidekick. She is resentful of being second best again, seeing herself as the moon to Aurora's planet in a draft they write together. But after revisiting her brother who has been her sidekick since their childhood, she learns to appreciate it. The network screens the 10-minute pilot episode, Milky Way Sick Day to a test audience. The squad becomes a cultural phenomenon.
6	Free Axolotl Episodic	Cold Open: In 2003, a young Ray mourns her pet goldfish. Shortly after the Columbia Space Shuttle Disaster, a new Stardust episode introduces Stardust's long-lost sister StarPower. To promote the show, RBS organizes StarPower Day at the local zoo, featuring axolotl exhibits. Ray wears an odd sidekick uniform while Aurora shines. Things spiral when anti-science protestors arrive, claiming the show is brainwashing kids with evolutionary biology. Ray asks the viewers: "Should I stay in my cage, or should we see what happens when the locks break?" Ray unlatches amphibian tanks during the chaos of the protest. As the crowd panics, Kwan helps the staff in recovery efforts, turning the crisis into a lesson on conservation. River is once again disappointed in Ray. Ray looks at the axolotls and openly says: "They get fed, they're safe, and everyone loves them. Maybe being stuck in a tank isn't so bad..."

SOLID, LIQUID, AND GAS

7	Kids are Evil Episodic	Cold Open: A social media contest where the class with the most likes wins a guest appearance on StarPower! Internet trolls organize a prank, ensuring that an elementary school from a remote area with little internet or media literacy wins. These kids are unimpressed by the green-screen show until the craft tables full of junk food sends them onto a sugar-fueled riot and they go crazy being introduced by the tech around them. With the help of Kwan who runs a neurodivergent theatre, the team goes with traditional cardboard, to finally engage the overstimulated children.
8	The Case of the Potty Mouth Episodic	Cold Open: While promoting StarPower! on a morning news program with Aurora and Ray using puppets, one of them accidentally swears. The bad word goes out live to millions of families. Like a Law & Order episode, the production team interrogates each puppet to determine which host is responsible for the slip-up. Ray agrees to take the fall as Aurora grows psychotic from the guilt. However, Aurora admits it was her at an impromptu press conference. Instead of public shunning, teenagers claim Aurora as the edgelord. Ray is envious of Aurora's attention once more.
9	Won't You Be My Enemy? Episodic	Cold Open: Steve Stevenson, who was third choice to be the host of StarPower!, stars as the villain Starcatcher in an episode. The audience adores Steve. While Aurora welcomes him with toxic positivity, Ray is rattled by his ability to play a villain so well that it blurs the line between script and personal attacks on insecurities. Steve uses the show's interactive format to manipulate the viewers into siding with him, gaslighting the hosts on their own set. Good thing he is recurring and not a main character, they can only hope.
10	Bye Bye Voices in Our Heads Episodic	Cold Open: Aurora and Ray go out to a party and drink something that makes them lose their voices for a week. Refusing to let River find a reason to replace them, the duo rewrites the script that only uses pantomime and props. Ray's brother refine the script to be geared towards deaf children. This week's episode garners the attention of the deaf community.

SOLID, LIQUID, AND GAS

11	Music Never Hurt Anybody	Cold Open: A whistleblower releases a news report about a detention center where they have been using one of Stardust's jingle "You are my Starlight" to torture prisoners for years, including getting military officers to give up their secrets.
	Episodic	River seeks reparations for the years of unlicensed use while Aurora vocalizes her political stance against torture, hinting that she will be vocal about more things. River kidnaps one of the detention center's officers and tortures them with her song until they agree to pay up.
12	The Smartest Teacher Alive	Cold Open: Ms. Aurora shares a social media post advocating for Southeast Asian children facing starvation due to a blockade. The production team tries to get Aurora to undo it. The government responsible for the conflict zones is a major sponsor of RBS.
	Idea: Sara Jane Beneke	Teacher Magazine selects Aurora as the 2026 Smartest Teacher Alive. The team advises her not to get political in her acceptance speech. She does so by saying "that children from the Midwest to Southeast deserve access to education. They should not die for it."
	Serial	The government in question demands that RBS Kids fires Aurora. Ray takes no stance. The public supports Aurora and questions Ray. Aurora is suspended from the season's finale while Clay takes over her role for the time being.
13	Time Out	Cold Open: Ray feels lost from outer space to reality without Aurora breaking the fourth wall with her.
	Serial	Clay pairs with Stardust once again while Ray tries out a partnership with StarPower. With Kwan's encouragement, Ray refuses to take part in the taping without Aurora's presence, and River personally fires Ray. The creators are about to make Clay be the permanent host once more, but Clay also will quit and send out a disapproving message to the world if River does not change her mind. Tag: The finale is rewritten. It follows Ray getting Clay's help to rescue Aurora and StarPower who are in danger.
