SOLID, LIQUID, AND GAS

David Quang Pham (Showrunner) is an award-winning songwriter, theatre and filmmaker who personifies science to explore social issues and the human condition. 2025 highlights include the world premiere of his musicals Turnover: A New Leaf and Chemicals in the Water, alongside film fellowships with Cinephila and Kellogg's Foundation. He is an astrophysics and theatre graduate from Michigan State University. Be up to lightspeed at @ScienceTheatre and www.science.studio.

Sannette Gaia (Producer/Director) is known for her directorial debut with the 2023 short film Pyggie and has expanded into international projects, including a 96-minute one-shot feature film in Mexico.

Dionne O'Dell (Cowriter) is a theater professional and academic specialist at Michigan State University, where she focuses on children's theater and creating inclusive performance experiences for neurodiverse audiences. She is the founder and artistic director of the Sense-Ability Ensemble, a group at MSU that develops multisensory, interactive theatrical productions specifically for neurodiverse children.

Evan Phillips (Puppeteer/Creative Consultant) is a resident artist at the Center for Puppetry Arts and a versatile performer recently in Sesame Street the Musical. A graduate of Michigan State with a BFA in Theatre, he is a founding member of the Sense-Ability Ensemble, where he devised innovative sensory-exploratory productions: Farm and Pond. Beyond puppetry, he is a certified Actor Combatant (SAFD), a skilled alto saxophonist, and a multi-disciplinary designer with animation and videography credits for Aurora Theatre and Kennesaw State University.

Lee Petroll (Production Coordinator) is a trans 2D animator who specializes in color design and theory.

Bema Coulibaly (Animator) is the CEO of LuckyJoy Studio, an animation studio dedicated to original storytelling and character development.