Solid, Liquid, and Gas

The children's show for adults.

The states of your wellbeing matter more than anything…

SOLID, LIQUID, AND GAS

LIVE-ACTION COMEDY-DRAMA SERIES OVERVIEW

In a last-ditch effort to reinvent herself, a struggling educator must win the host role in the beloved children's tv series STARPOWER!, only to face the original host's legacy and a public resistant to inclusivity.

WHY NOW?

We're living in an era of scientific skepticism and distrust in education. For the Blue's Clues generation, host Steve shared puzzles we solved through kindness and listening.

Today, the same generation is grappling with an anti-truth reality and mental health crises. Solid, Liquid, and Gas is a direct response to this, by using children's programming devices to dismantle complexities of adulthood. It asks: How do we stay solid when the world is evaporating around us?

The story investigates the states of matter (solid, liquid, gas, and plasma) as a metaphor for personal transformation.

Pitch Deck

Completed Episodes (Screenplays)

1. Pilot – Inner Child | Budget
2. Who Does Not Belong?

Partially Completed Episodes (Screenplays)

3. Team Player
4. ~~For Educational Purposes Only~~
5. Sidekick

Stardust + StarPower!

The Show-within-a-Show

Live-Action/Animated Children's TV Series + Reboot in the SLG Series

Created by River Matthews and Skye Park (fictional people)

Broadcasted through Rainbow Broadcasting Service (RBS Kids)

Pitch Deck

Stardust (1999-2006 Original Series)

Stardust, a cosmic mudpuppy, leaves glitter to help her human friend Clay and the viewers explore new worlds and learn science.

Tentative Episodes (Screenplays)

1. Pilot – Solid, Liquid, and Gas

StarPower! (2026 Revival of Stardust)

Stardust and her shapeshifter axolotl sister StarPower help Aurora, Ray, and viewers rescue worlds in trouble and explore all universes.

Completed Episodes (Screenplays)

1. Pilot – Milky Way Sick Day

SOLID, LIQUID, AND GAS

MAIN CHARACTERS

TRINI "RAY" REYES is a struggling 29-year-old Filipina American educator who is eventually the host's sidekick in StarPower! She often breaks the fourth wall to speak directly to the camera, sharing cynical thoughts about the world, her personal failures or asking viewers to make a choice. She likes taking up space but is incapable of pausing to listen. She can speak Tagalog.

KWAN "SUNSHINE" REYES is Ray's 24-year-old little brother, an astronomy graduate student at Michigan State University and member of a local neurodivergent theatre. He got his nickname in college. Unlike Ray's manic energy, he is grounded and uses scientific logic to calm down Ray. His dead-panned humor often interrupts her fourth wall breaks. He can speak Tagalog.

MS. AURORA STARLING is a science educator with a huge following and the eventual host of StarPower! Despite seeing Ray as a theatre camp and STEM club bestie, she is unknowingly seen by Ray as a longtime rival. Like Ray, she often breaks the fourth wall to speak directly to the camera, sharing positive thoughts about the world or her personal achievements.

BILLY CLAYTON DUBOIS is the original host of Stardust. He left in 2006 due to clinical depression and a drunk driving accident. He initially rejects Ray when she comes to him for guidance but becomes her mentor after finding out River and Skye are reviving the series without him. He has cartoonish energy and often speaks to an invisible audience yet misses the camera's gaze.

RIVER MATTHEWS is the co-creator of Stardust and its revival StarPower! She voices both titular characters. She is very protective of the brand and takes every chance she can to rid StarPower! of any flaw that Stardust had. Though she never breaks the fourth wall, she is aware of it like Ray.

SCHUYLER "SKYE" PARK is a co-creator of Stardust and voice actor. They are open-minded and look out for Ray's wellbeing, unlike River. It may be due to Clay's 29th birthday drunk driving accident long ago. In the early 2000s, they were male representing but have since come out as non-binary. Though they never break the fourth wall, they are aware of it like Ray.

YASMINE "YLEM" (E-lehm) LEM is the primary animator, designer, and puppeteer of the Stardust franchise. Like her cartoons, she is very animated.

SOLID, LIQUID, AND GAS

RECURRING CHARACTERS

TERESA ALVES is Stardust's biggest fan. As a child, she ran a fan club blog for the original show. Now as an adult, she is now a science communicator who runs social media channels dedicated to and critiquing StarPower!

KENDRA ALTRO is a child actor who voices the younger characters on StarPower!

JET APRIL is a director, known for the children's tv series, Cinnamonville. They serve as the primary series director for StarPower!

CRYSTAL CABELLERO is a story editor, developer, and educational psychologist for StarPower!

COOPER OWENS is an anti-science protestor and former child actor.

MR. REYES is Ray and Sunshine's father.

MRS. REYES is Ray and Sunshine's mother.

ALICE STARLING is a mission's operations manager at NASA and Aurora's mother, who helps to fact check Aurora's scripts.

BARRY STARLING is a former theatre actor and Aurora's father.

STEVE STEVENSON would be the third pick as the host of StarPower! if Aurora and Ray did not accept. He stars as the villain Starcatcher in a later episode of the first season to rave reviews.

THANH THIEN is the primary composer for the original Stardust, who created the show's music, including the theme song with River and iconic tunes.

SOLID, LIQUID, AND GAS

LIST OF STARDUST + STARPOWER! CHARACTERS

STARDUST (voiced by River Matthews) is the titular character of the original interactive educational children's TV franchise. She is a cosmic green mudpuppy who communicates by saying “twinkle.”

STARPOWER (voiced by River Matthews) is the titular character of the revival. She is a shape-shifting pink axolotl and Stardust’s bigger sister who speaks by saying “bubble.” She was introduced in a 2003 episode of Stardust.

CLAY (played by Billy Clayton Dubois) is the host of the original show. In the revival, he returned to his home planet as a space mailman and appears as a recurring character.

AURORA (played by Aurora Starling) is the host of StarPower! and the second host of the franchise. She is Clay’s younger cousin and a musician.

RAY (played by Trini “Ray” Reyes) is Aurora’s courageous and crazy sidekick of the revival series. She often gets sent to scout inconvenient worlds.

ROCKET (voiced by Skye Park) is a cheerful green-and-white ship who transports Stardust and her friends to distant worlds. In each episode, Rocket lands after the host sings “Rocket Zoop.”

SUPPORTING

TELESCOPE (voiced by Skye Park) is an insightful telescope.

GALAXY FAMILY are a spiritual family named after real galaxies

- MILKY WAY (little child)
- CARTWHEEL & WHIRLPOOL (teenage twins)
- BUTTERFLY (child)
- SOMBRERO (teenager)

MINOR

HALLEY (voiced by Skye Park) is a comet who delivers messages.

GRAVITY (voiced by River Matthews) is a stray dog who lets everyone down but can fetch anything. They bark “force.”

SOLID, LIQUID, AND GAS

WORLD & TONE

"It's Blue Clues! …for adults…" – Carissa Sky

Children's programming device: main characters break the fourth wall to ask the viewers questions about adult problems and to dismantle adult issues such as mental health, poverty, careers, and politics

Fantastical world of science on Stardust + StarPower! set…

Miserable reality of adulthood for the rest…

The chaos

meets

the fun

meets

the fourth wall breaks

SOLID, LIQUID, AND GAS

SAMPLE SCENE

INT. PEANUT BARREL - DAY

The waiter waits on Ray and Aurora to answer, looking weirded out.

RAY
(to camera; cynically)
Should I commit a crime against humanity or be a model citizen? Crime or no crime?

AURORA
Don't mind us, host. We look to our viewers for answers.
(winks at camera)

RAY
You answered crime? Crime, it is!
(to the waiter)
A slice of pineapple pizza, please!
(to camera)
Now, do you see the loser in the room?
(pointing a finger around)
Lemme know when to stop, maybe Ms. Aurora.
(her finger land on herself)
Stop here?! That's how it is, you absolute jerks…

AURORA
Ray, have you lost the plot? You've got a deadline to finish the spec. I need to memorize lines now.

SOLID, LIQUID, AND GAS

HOT OPEN (from Episode 3: "Team Player")

INT. RAY'S BEDROOM – MORNING (DREAMWORLD)

BEEP. BEEP. The alarm goes off then suddenly catches on fire.
Ray jumps out of bed and puts the fire out with a towel.

RAY
Why do bad things keep happening to me?

Aurora swiftly rises from the opposite side of the bed.

AURORA
Could it be because you keep making bad choices, Ray?

RAY
(pointing to the camera)
They keep telling me to make bad choices.

AURORA
(to camera)
Are you telling my bestie Ray to be a baddie? No? Good.
(to Ray)
They said "no."

RAY
(to camera)
Thanks for nothing.

AURORA
Shall we sing about your troubles, Ray?

RAY
No, no! Anything but singing.

AURORA
WHEN YOU CHOOSE TO BE A LIAR
DON'T BE SAD WHEN...

RAY
(Weeping)
...MY WORLD'S ON FIRE?

The towel bursts into flames, freaking everyone out.

END OF HOT OPEN

SOLID, LIQUID, AND GAS

SEASON ARCS (TENTATIVE)

SEASON 1

Ep	Title	Plot Summary
1	Inner Child Serial	Cold Open: In the early 2000s, Trini “Ray” Reyes and her baby brother Kwan “Sunshine” Reyes were fans of the children’s show Stardust, featuring a green mudpuppy Stardust and her host Clay as they travel the universe to teach science. Upon its cancellation in 2006, little Ray decides to pursue her theatre and science education dreams. In 2025, struggling educator Ray faces the end of her theatre career after accidentally setting a touring puppet show on fire. Blacklisted and facing eviction, she finds hope in an encouraging video from Clay for Stardust’s 25th anniversary. Ray visits Kwan and finds out the show’s original creators, River and Skye, will be in town. She pitches herself to them during an arts fair but is dismissed as unprofessional. After secretly recording a conversation where she learns a revival has been greenlit but her polished rival, Ms. Aurora, will host without any auditions, Kwan helps Ray track down a disillusioned Clay in Brooklyn.
2	Who Does Not Belong? Serial	Cold Open: When Ray was in elementary school, Clay stopped by her classroom. He was an inspiration to everyone. Now, middle-aged Clay is cynical and dismisses Ray as a mentee. But Clay discovers that the show’s creators, River and Skye, plan to hire Aurora without holding auditions. So, Clay helps Ray film a rogue audition video at Clay's apartment. Their video goes viral and sparks a global wave of auditions. To avoid a PR disaster, the network is forced to scrap their plans and announce a legitimate casting process, putting Ray back in the running for the revival. Ray performs well and gains massive grassroots following, but the network ultimately chooses her rival, Ms. Aurora, for the host role to keep a safe image.
3	Team Player Serial	Cold Open: Ray has a dream about putting out a fire with Aurora. Despite Ms. Aurora getting the host position, the public demands Ray's involvement. Aurora and Skye convince River to hire Ray as a writer’s assistant as a consolation prize. Overnight and with the help of Clay's mentorship, she writes a phenomenal pilot script for Aurora and StarPower, trying to prove she can be a team player. But River rejects Ray's draft and goes with her own. They begin shooting the pilot for the test audience.

4	For Educational Purposes Only Serial	StarPower! pilot is screened for a test audience. While Aurora is decent with new kids, the older fans demand the return of Stardust, feeling the new show is hollow. River brings back Stardust to appease fans, but Aurora struggles to connect with the animated mudpuppy. During a chaotic rehearsal, Ray steps in to read lines. With Clay's mentorship, her energetic spirit works with Stardust's whimsiness. Overnight, River writes a script introducing Aurora's sidekick.
5	Sidekick Serial	Cold Open: In 2014, Ray and Aurora spend their last theatre camp together. Aurora is cast as Peter Pan; Ray is Tinker Bell as consolation. The network officially pushes Ray in front of the camera as Aurora's crazy sidekick. She is resentful of being second best again and almost sticks to being a writer, but after revisiting her brother who has been her sidekick since their childhood, she accepts the role. The network screens the 10-minute pilot episode, Milky Way Sick Day to a test audience. The squad becomes a cultural phenomenon.
6	Free Axolotl Episodic	Cold Open: In 2003, a young Ray mourns her pet goldfish. Shortly after the Columbia Space Shuttle Disaster, a new Stardust episode introduces Stardust's long-lost sister StarPower. To promote the show, RBS organizes StarPower Day at the local zoo, featuring axolotl exhibits. Ray wears an odd sidekick uniform while Aurora shines. Things spiral when Cooper Owens and anti-science protestors arrive, claiming the show is brainwashing children with evolutionary biology. Ray asks the viewers: "Should I stay in my cage, or should we see what happens when the locks break?" Ray unlatches the reptile tank during the chaos of the protest. As the crowd panics, Kwan helps the staff in recovery efforts, turning the crisis into a lesson on habitats and conservation. River is once again disappointed in Ray. Ray looks at the axolotls and openly says: "They get fed, they're safe, and everyone loves them. Maybe being stuck in a tank isn't so bad..."

SOLID, LIQUID, AND GAS

7	Kids are Evil Episodic	Cold Open: A social media contest where the class with the most likes wins a guest appearance on StarPower! Internet trolls organize a prank, ensuring that an elementary school from a remote area with little internet or media literacy wins. These kids are unimpressed by the green-screen show until the crafts table full of junk food sends them onto a sugar-fueled riot and they go crazy being introduced by the tech around them. With the help of Ray's brother who runs a neurodivergent theatre, the team goes with traditional cardboard, to finally engage the overstimulated children.
8	The Case of the Potty Mouth Episodic	Cold Open: While promoting StarPower! on a morning news program with Aurora and Ray using puppets, one of them accidentally swears. The bad word goes out live to millions of families. Like a Law & Order episode, the production team interrogates each puppet to determine which host is responsible for the slip-up. Ray agrees to take the fall as Aurora grows psychotic from the guilt. However, Aurora admits it was her at an impromptu press conference. Instead of public shunning, teenagers claim Aurora as the edgelord. Ray is envious of Aurora's attention once more.
9	Won't You Be My Enemy? Episodic	Cold Open: Steve Stevenson, who was third choice to be the host of StarPower!, stars as the villain Starcatcher in an episode. The audience adore Steve. While Aurora welcomes him with toxic positivity, Ray is rattled by his ability to play a villain so well that it blurs the line between script and personal attacks on her insecurities. Steve uses the show's interactive format to manipulate the viewers into siding with him, gaslighting the hosts on their own set. Good thing he is recurring and not a main character, they can only hope.
10	Bye Bye Voices in Our Heads Episodic	Cold Open: Aurora and Ray go out to a party and drink something that makes them lose their voices for a week. Refusing to let River find a reason to replace them, the duo rewrites the script that only uses pantomime and props. Ray's brother refine the script to be geared towards deaf children. This week's episode garners the attention of the deaf community.

11	Music Never Hurt Anybody	Cold Open: A whistleblower releases a news report about a detention center where they have been using one of Stardust's jingle "You are my Starlight" to torture prisoners for years, including getting military officers to give up their secrets. River seeks reparations for the years of unlicensed use while Aurora vocalizes her political stance against torture, hinting that she will be vocal about more things. River kidnaps one of the detention center's officers and tortures them with her song until they agree to pay up.
12	The Smartest Teacher Alive *Idea: Sara Jane Beneke Serial	Cold Open: Ms. Aurora shares a social media post advocating for Southeast Asian children facing starvation due to a blockade. The production team tries to get Aurora to undo it. The Asian government responsible for the conflict zones is a major sponsor of RBS. Teacher Magazine selects Aurora as the 2026 Smartest Teacher Alive. The team advises her not to get political in her acceptance speech. She does so by saying "…that children from the Midwest to the Southeast deserve access to education. They should not die for it." The government in question demands that RBS Kids fires Aurora. Ray takes no stance. The public supports Aurora and questions Ray. Aurora is suspended from the season's finale while Clay takes over her role for the time being.
13	Time Out Serial	Cold Open: Ray feels lost from outer space to reality without Aurora breaking the fourth wall with her. Clay pairs with Stardust once again while Ray tries out a partnership with StarPower. With her brother's encouragement, Ray refuses to take part in the taping without Aurora's presence, and River personally fires Ray. The creators are about to make Clay be the permanent host once more, but Clay also will quit and send out a disapproving message to the world if River does not change her mind. Tag: The finale is rewritten. It follows Ray getting Clay's help to rescue Aurora and StarPower who are in danger.

SEASON 2

SOLID, LIQUID, AND GAS

Ep	Title	Plot Summary
1	Inner Hero Serial	The finale is broadcasted to the world. In the episode, Ray gets the help of the legend Clay to save Aurora and StarPower. The team celebrates Aurora and Ray's return.

SEASON ?

Ep	Title	Plot Summary
?	Content Warning	?
?	D is for Dictator	The children of an East European dictator visit the states to meet their hero: Ray. Ray and Aurora are unsure what to make of it, but River and Skye appreciate the sudden intense flow of money.
?	Divorced from Reality	The parents of one of the child voice actors are getting a divorce and the episode they just recorded is about separation.
?	It Wouldn't Be a Show Without a Holiday Special	A disastrous holiday special
?	Jiu-Jitsu Knock Off	Cold Open: When Ray and Kwan were kids, their good-intentioned mother would gift them VHS tapes of Stardirt, the Portuguese knock-off versions of Stardust. An animation studio, based in São Paulo, Brazil, has been stealing Stardust's IP since forever and is now producing StarWonder. Clay remembers meeting his Brazilian counterpart and “beating him in a dual.” Aurora and Ray meet their Brazilian counterparts.

?	Kerfuffle	RBS wants to give StarFuffle, Stardust and StarPower’s cousin, another chance at the spotlight.
?	Our Special Guest	A flamboyant musical guest star is meant to be shelved but Ray decides to pass it onto someone else to air it on YouTube.
?	Quantum Hoo-Ha	For a terminally ill child’s “Make a Wish Foundation” wish, they wish for an episode teaching quantum physics and Ray and Aurora are going to somehow make that happen.
?	StarWorld	Cold Open: River has been sending a cease-and-desist letter to an event based on the Stardust franchise, but news of it is spreading. She decides to send Skye, Ray, and Aurora to investigate. Once they reach StarWorld in Glasgow, Scotland, which is actually a poorly decorated warehouse with underpaid costumed staff, they try to leave with second-hand embarrassment. But the event planners kidnap the squad. Now it is up to River and Kwan to save them. In the tag, the StarWorld actress who dressed up as Stardust makes a guest appearance on the latest episode of StarPower!
?	Thanksgiving Ain’t Forgiving	A Thanksgiving episode where it teaches you that Thanksgiving has a bad rep to it.
?	Therapist is a Weird Word	Cold Open: Ray needs therapy after a sleep paralysis demons are Stardust and StarPower on a Miniverse set.
	Episodic	The sessions with Dr. Caballero become a battleground where Ray’s compulsive need to cynically break the fourth wall is constantly interrupted by the therapist’s refusal to play along with it.